

Nov 6, 2017 Update

Are you at all like me when it comes to projects? Sometimes I'm just not inspired to start or work on anything. Then all of a sudden adrenaline kicks in and I want to make everything I see. In the last month I think I have started at least 5 new projects...none of which are finished. Even as I sit here writing this newsletter there is a pattern sitting on my desk that keeps calling to me to "go pick some fat quarters for me". I try to quiet that little voice. I even stacked some papers on top of him so I couldn't hear it any more, but it's not working....I still hear that faint little voice. I guess I'm going to lose the battle and give up and just go play with fabric choices for yet another project. I swore that all I was taking to retreat this year would be old UFOs. I guess with all the things I've started this month I will be taking new UFOs instead of old ones. Somehow it wasn't supposed to work out this way.....

Nov 6, 2017 Update

I always get excited when a box of new yarn comes in. This Regia Pairfect from Schachenmayr is designed to make a pair of striped socks that match perfectly.

Grab one of these fingerless mitts kits to make a perfect Christmas gift. Either knit it up yourself or give as a kit to your favorite knitter.

We have lots of new and beautiful sock yarn to choose from. This Huasco sock yarn is so yummy I want one of each color!

Schachenmayr just sent us this Fashion Creative Lace yarn that would work up into the most beautiful shawl ever. The colors are so rich and scrumptious.

I just stitched up this little Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer quilt using one of the Villa Rosa patterns called Paralleled. If you're looking for a simple easy project this might be the one.

We have kits all made up for this beautiful kaleidoscope Christmas Quilt. This one may be my new holiday table cover.

The Improv bag came out so cute with this funny little dachshund fabric. What a great way to use up scraps. Watch our class schedule after the first of the year for a class.

This Doodle Days quilt came out so cute by taking the panel and adding a simple border. The colors are so gender neutral that it would be perfect for a boy or girl. We have kits available, but they are selling fast so make sure you get one before we run out.

FABRICS YARN CLASSES NOTIONS STENCILS BOOKS PATTERNS

Nov 6, 2017 Update

The much anticipated release of these 2 books is finally here - Edita Sitar's Patches of Blue and Kim Diehl's Simple Harvest. We have sold through our first order and have another group on the way. I took home the Simple Harvest and started cutting out a project that same evening.

If any of you are Bonnie Hunter fans, she has released the information on her next free on-line mystery quilt. We have put together a display to help you make your fabric selections. Check out her blog for more information.

This sweet little flannel group "Babe in the Wood" from Maywood just came in and would make a warm little baby quilt. Using one of the 3 Yard Quilt patterns would make that project a snap to make.

Ok- so now the newsletter is all written I think I will dig into that pile of papers on my desk, find that noisy little pattern and go play with fat quarters.....I give up!
Happy Stitching ~Lisa
