Feb 23, 2018 Update

Well our 2018 winter retreats are nothing but a memory now. We had such a great time and all the creativity going on was such a wonderful inspiration. Check your calendars and get next years dates reserved because you REALLY don't want to miss all the fun, food and laughs with all your friends. Dates for 2019 are February 7-10 and February 14-17. Our Fiber retreat will be February 15-17. We also have a summer 2018 Fiber retreat July 6-8.

We have gotten so many new beautiful fabrics in since I last sent out a newsletter. I love this one from Clothworks called Love Lies Here. I think I'm going to cut this panel up into blocks and frame each one, possibly having the overall fabric as an offset block.

I love these overall advertising prints that are also from the Hatters Tea Party line. I so want to take a piece home and come up with some creative use for it. Bag perhaps?

Quilting Treasure sent us this yummy floral piece from the line Hatters Tea Party. All I can think is I might just need a nice spring vest.

We have a brand new Beginners Quilting Class starting on March 26th. This class usually fills up quickly so if you know anybody interested let them know so they can get signed up.

We are excited to roll out a brand new Block of the Month called First Blush. When we received our Bake Sale 2 fabric line, I just knew this was the pattern for it! It's bright and springy and so fun. This is a 13 month program, costing $24.99 per month.

The first month you'll also purchase the book for $24.99 and Creative Grid's Starburst 30° Triangle Ruler which makes all these blocks a breeze. We will be scheduling a short session on a Saturday to demonstrate how to use the ruler.

Come check it out and sign up soon!

Have you ever seen a gingham stripe? These cuties came from Moda and I just love them. They make a fantastic binding.

This adorable baby flannel line works up really easily with the self binding blanket. The pattern is free with any fabric purchase. If you need a quick easy baby gift this would be perfect.

I'm so excited to receive Di Ford's new line—Maling Road from Andover Fabrics. Right now I'm searching for the perfect traditional pattern to create a quilt using this lovely reproduction fabric.

We have a couple of new notions. The Sew Straight from Eleanor Burns that makes piecing half square triangles a snap. Simply attach it to the bed of your sewing machine and there will be no more marking lines on every single square of fabric. Easy Peasy!

And we finally got in more of the 120" tape measures that many of you have asked for. They were out of production for a while, but they are finally making them again.

I can't get enough of this lovely fingering weight yarn. I have signed up for the Sunset Frost Shawl class that starts February 28th. There are still a couple of spots left in the class. This class has already started, but it would not take you long to get caught up. Come join us.

We have a good selection of knitting and crochet needles so stop in and check them out.

We have a Brioche workshop scheduled for Saturday March 31 from 10am until 4:30 pm. There's still a couple spots left so get signed up soon.

This week the UPS guy brought a box of new Cascade yarns that are so wonderful—Sarasota and Llamero. I love the bright colors of Sarasota. Chauntel has already started a summer sweater with the blue colorway. So far it is gorgeous. The neutral colors of the Llamero would work up into the most gorgeous project that would fade from one shade into the next.

With all this new fabric and yarn that has come in I need another retreat so I can start some more new projects!!!!
