FABRICS YARN CLASSES NOTIONS STENCILS BOOKS PATTERNS

May 11, 2015 Update

This has really been a busy week at our house. Two of our grandsons just graduated...Abdul from Heights High and Tyler from North High. Congratulations guys and also to all the other graduates out there. May you accomplish all the goals in life that you set for yourselves.

I was so excited when I got this new book designed by Lori Holt from Bee in my Bonnet. It is full of the cutest blocks in the prettiest colors. Each pattern is in both 12" and 6" blocks. I love the itty bittys so I'm really thinking about making some of the 6" blocks just for fun. Speaking of itty bitty we now have the new Creative Grids Itty Bitty Eighths rulers that have 1/8" markings on them in both black and white so you can see them on dark or light fabrics.

We have several new shipments of pre cuts available. These wonderful strips are full of the fresh colors we all love from the 30s.

This little quilt is designed by Kim Diehl. We have kits cut and ready for you.

Deb Johnson from In the Dog House Designs designed this cute spring table topper named Jubilee. We have the model hanging in the window. It makes me want to go home and plant one more flower pot full of bright colors.

Terry McHargue pieced this cute little baby quilt called Little Boy Blue in a day using Cherie from Art Gallery fabrics.
