FABRICS YARN CLASSES NOTIONS STENCILS BOOKS PATTERNS

May 27, 2015 Update

This week I took my first ever crochet class. My grandmother crocheted all the time and I wanted her to teach me. She said that I had to wait till I was 8 years old she would show me how. On my 8th birthday I begged so we sat down and that is when I learned. I thought it was really fun to make those long chainy things. Then I learned all the other stitches. I got older and I learned to sew so that hooked me and I hadn't touched crochet much.-till now. The shawl class was so much fun that I'm "hooked" again. If you would like to try a crochet class we have a beginner one scheduled for July 15th. Give us a call and we can get you signed up.

I get a lot of calls for the little Steamfast Iron and we finally got some more in.

Here is a beautiful Old Glory quilt that Barb Nickelson made by digging into her stash and pulling out all her patriotic red, white, and blue scraps.

We got in several new cute patterns like this one from Villa Rosa called Farfalle.

These 2 patterns from the Sew Simple series are printed by Martingale Publishing and would make some great Christmas gifts that could be stitched up in a hurry.

All of here at the shop LOVE embroidery work. Terry stitched this watering can and used crayons to add a bit of color to her project.

May 27, 2015 Update

The barns embroidery block of the month was such a huge hit that I thought you would like these projects I found that are done by a Kansas designer. There is a covered bridge, and grist mill, windmill and a water pump.

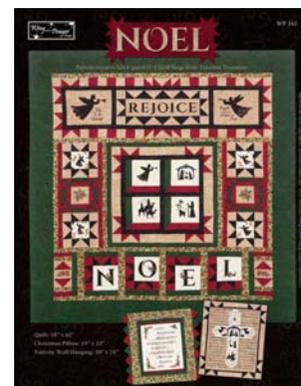

The latest issue of Mary Janes Farm is here.

Where's the Wheat is this years Shop Hop challenge. Pick up a kit for a $3 entry fee. Make a small Wallhanging and enter it in the challenge to be hung and voted on during shop hop. The top 3 winners receive $100 each. Kits are available in our store.

Don't forget to get signed up for our newest block of the months. Details were in last week's newsletter or stop by the store to get all the information.

Looks like there's more rain coming this weekend. I'm glad I got the rest of my plants in the ground and can spend the weekend inside sewing or crocheting on my shawl.
